The rejection of the claims over Seiden has been dropped for the reasons argued by applicants.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 9-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over DeMichele (6,160,007 or 6,013,665).

DeMichele discloses a triglyceride composition from the interesterification of medium chain triglycerides with fish oils. At column 9 the ratio of medium chain to long chain fatty acids contemplated is specifically tabulated for 1:1 and 2:1 ratios. At column 9, lines 8-10, the concept of extending the ratio to include 1:3 to about 3:1 ratio of medium chain fatty acids to long chain fatty acids is specifically set forth. At Table 2 the level of saturated fat in the fish oil is shown to be at less than 10%. The claims appear to differ from the reference in the suggestion of the lower amount of medium chain fatty acid that is set forth in claim 8. Given the variation in ratios of medium and long chain fatty acids and the predicted impact of the ratio on the overall composition, one of ordinary skill in the art could modify the starting materials of DeMichele in order to achieve the desired oil composition of the claims.

Claims 12-14 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
